HARD WORKING HELPERS

People Who Care is a volunteer-based not for profit organisation that has been serving the community for over 40 years. Offering services and support for those who are frail aged, those with a disability and families starting over following domestic violence and disruption. Their vision is to build resilient communities through the engagement of willing volunteers, helping others in need. They do this by providing practical support to people, such as home maintenance, gardening, transport, and social and community participation. People Who care employ gardeners who visit their client's homes once a month for 1 hour. Many of their client's homes require more work to be done than what can be achieved in the 1 hour visits so they rely heavily on the assistance of corporate volunteers.

On May 24, nineteen energetic volunteers from BHP's - Mine Control A Crew Team spent their day at a residence, located in Karingup. The beautiful home is owned by one of People Who Care Clients, with an incredible view of Perth City Skyline.

Working with my work crew and building a garden bed for the client

The day commenced with an overview and tour of the property conducted by Ben, who works with People Who Care. After the group had scoped out the front and back garden, BHP volunteers broke into smaller groups, spreading themselves among the large property. Tasks of the day included weeding and pruning the roses, cutting down overgrown branches and fruit trees, trimming hedges, racking leaves, and breaking down lattice. In addition to this, two very dedicated team members completely transformed the corner patio area by incorporating landscaping techniques and created a garden bed feature. As the team worked on their tasks, they filled up buckets of green waste and made multiple trips back and forth to the trailer to dispose the green waste.

As the day wrapped up, the clients could not have been happier by the front and backyard garden transformation. An amazing team effort led by Jonathon. The motivation and dedication really paid off today. A huge round of applause to this team for their incredible help. It was a rewarding, wholesome and meaningful day. Thanks BHP!
