JUMPING WITH JOY

Lisa's Kangaroo Retreat rescues, rehabilitates, and releases wildlife, including injured and orphaned joeys, kangaroos, wallabies, possums, and other animals. The Kangaroo Retreat in Redbank is home to dozens of animals and relies on community and volunteer support to aid each animal in completing its journey to health and success. Volunteers are needed to help with general maintenance and the upkeep of the enclosures, feeding Joeys via bottles, making kangaroo milk, cleaning, and cuddling Joeys.

On March 22nd, thirty BHP employees from the Asset Integrity team braved a day in the heat to assist Lisa's Kangaroo Retreat with a variety of tasks. After a warm welcome, the team split into four teams and undertook a variety of tasks including hanging new shade cloth, weeding, gardening, raking, removing unwanted items, and minor maintenance. The team was motivated to work together and successfully complete all the tasks.

After lunch, a few team members assisted with feeding the joeys. The overall site improvement was amazing, and the staff at Lisa's Kangaroo Retreat were very appreciative of the support. Thanks so much to this wonderful team for showing up with a great attitude and smashing through the activities.
