HEDLAND WELL WOMEN'S CENTRE

The Well Women's Centre (WWC) supports women, families and the Hedland community through quality programs. Located in South Hedland and established in 1991 the organisation provides vital health services such as Women's Health Nurse, Dietitian and Counsellors. The centre operates a "Home Away from Home" through a drop in centre and a comfortable safe space for respite and support. Advocating for women's health needs the centre also provides education and empowerment through workshops and programs as well as social and emotional well-being.

On Tuesday 7th November, 8 dedicated volunteers from the Port Engineering Team came together to volunteer their time at Hedland Well Women's Centre. The afternoon began with an introduction from Karen the WWC Health Promotions Manager, who gave the volunteers information about the centre and the services they offer to the Hedland Community.

The team then divided themselves into groups and got to work. The tasks for the afternoon were organising the indoor cupboards, putting together maternity care packs for woman visiting the centre, cleaning and sorting the shed, high pressure cleaning the shelving, walls and foot paths and taking rubbish to the tip. The team absolutely smashed it and the place looked immaculate by the end of the day.

The Port Engineering team Social Club kindly donated an amount of money that they would usually put towards buying food and drink for their BBQ's to the Well Women's Centre. The WWC was blown away with the generosity they received. Thank you to this incredible team of BHP volunteers for supporting a wonderful organisation and for your hard work throughout the day.

We hope you enjoyed the experience!
