PREPARING FOR CYCLONE SEASON

“THE TEAM DID AN AMAZING JOB, THANK YOU VERY MUCH, THEY HAVE HELPED US ACHIEVE JOBS THAT NEEDED DOING FOR OVER 1 YEAR”

Situated on Kariyarra land, Rose Nowers Early Learning Centre is a not for profit, multifunctional Aboriginal children's service based in South Hedland which offers high quality care and education. Rose Nowers values early childhood education as a foundation for lifelong learning.

On 16th November, a crew of 9, from the Port Project Engineering Team C, attended a busy bee at the Centre to assist staff with works that they had been needing help with for a long time. After a heartfelt welcome Centre Director Sarah gave the team a brief summary of the services Rose Nowers provided, then a walkthrough of the tasks for the day. There was much to do to prepare for cyclone season and the team split into smaller groups and quickly got to the jobs assigned.

One team moved a whole pallet load of white sandbags to fill the sandpit, while another crew cleared paths of old play equipment, furniture and boxes. They cleaned the whole yard area, filling 2 skip bins and removed 3 trailer loads of rubbish to the tip.

Jess Scott and her team worked tirelessly and were glad for the break and the morning tea provided by the grateful staff. They were happy to move inside and commence assembling play equipment and room accessories needed by the Centre. They powered through the rest of their job list constructing a large number of wheelbarrows, baby rockers and other equipment, and welcomed lunch to finish off the team's day.

It was a fantastic effort when all was done and with true appreciation from Sarah and her staff the team departed and should be proud of the work completed in the Pilbara heat.
